The visit was thoughtfully planned to cater to the diverse needs of the children. Students from the university divided themselves into groups to ensure meaningful connections. For the younger children (UKG to class 8), interactive sessions filled with stories, games, and engaging conversations brought smiles and laughter. The bond formed during these moments left an indelible mark on both the children and the visitors.

Simultaneously, for students of classes 9 to 12, a dedicated career counseling session was conducted. Led by Mr. Chandrapal Gautam and some university students, the session provided valuable guidance on various career paths, further studies, and skill development. The aim was to inspire the children to dream big and equip them with knowledge to achieve their goals.

The university team also brought along tokens of support and care for the children. Refreshments, clothing, and stationery items were distributed as donations, symbolizing the collective effort to contribute to the well-being of these young minds. These small yet meaningful gestures highlighted the spirit of giving and the importance of standing together as a community. The initiative strengthened the bond between the university and the local community, showcasing the power of collaborative efforts in making a positive impact.

In conclusion, the visit to Shanti Niketan Children's Home Trust was not just an event but a celebration of kindness and humanity. Coordinators of the The Omega Leo Club and Gender Champions Club of JUIT are grateful to JUIT and Shanti Niketan's administration for providing all the support.
